

Engineer's Day Celebrations

Vishnu Institute of Technology celebrated Engineers Day as a tribute to the greatest engineer of India, Sir Mokshagundam Visvesvaraya, on September 15, 2011. Addressing the huge gathering of prospective engineers on this occasion, Principal Dr. D. Suryanarana paid glowing tributes to this eminent personality. He said that Sir MV was the embodiment of innovative faculty, scientific precision, rational thinking coupled with patriotism and humanism. These traits of his are worth emulating and a life of discipline alone would lead us to his path he exhorted.

Dr. G. Srinivas Rao, Principal of SVECW, earlier being associated with Visweswaraya Institute gave an interesting account of the life of Sir Mokshagundam Visvesvaraya. Prof. P. Srinivas Raju, Vice Principal of SVECW and Prof. K. Srinivas, HOD of ECE department also addressed the gathering.

Later technical and literary events were organized. Students from nearby colleges -- Sasi Engineering College, GVIT, and SVECW also participated in the events. This was followed by an extempore programme and a general quiz.

Dr. D. Suryanarayana appreciated the efforts made by the staff members and students, and wished them to carry on concerted efforts for the same.
